Good Morning,

Well that did not last, the city sanitation director initially said the BID's are exempt from the recycLA ordinance, well this got back to the Lawyers who said NO! I am pretty disappointed in this decision and frankly shocked considering what we do to help city sanitation. They reached out to me today to let me know and they will follow up with an email shortly. I will pass on the email once I receive it.

Good Morning,

See below, I am sure if they exempt the DCBID all BID's would be exempt. I would call Lorena just to be sure and to get it in writing for your respective BID.

Hi Brian,

As we discussed, the Downtown Business Center Improvement District is exempt from the provisions of the recycLA program, but because Commercial Waste Services is no longer a permitted hauler, you may not continue to contract them.

Below is the link to the list of permitted haulers -- it's divided into two sections -- one is waste haulers (trash); the other is haulers that primarily haul construction and demolition debris, or who are actually contractors that haul their own debris from their jobs. I think you'll find a good substitute in the section marked "Waste Haulers" (the first part of the list).

If you have any questions, please let me know. I'll keep in touch regarding some of the other issues we discussed.
